

THE BIGGEST AND BEST

Stevens Point Fair Attracts Scores of Exhibitors, Many Pleasing Attractions and Thousands of Visitors.

The present annual exhibition of the Stevens Point Fair Association promises to be the most successful and greatest in all respects of any in the history of that organization, with more features to please patrons and better exhibits in all departments.

All of last week a number of hands were kept busy fixing up the exhibition buildings, and on Monday and Tuesday scores were kept "on the jump" receiving and assigning entries of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, agricultural products, art and manufacturers' displays, etc., and in all lines the exhibits are first-class and merit the commendations they receive.

STOCK DEPARTMENT.

After leaving the agricultural and poultry buildings, going north, and reaching the stock department, you first see an entry of 65 Durock Jersey swine entered by H. P. West, of West Lawn farm, Ripon, and next is an entry made by F. H. Meekin & Son, of Fond du Lac, proprietors of the Spring Brook farm, consisting of 11 Hereford cattle and 9 Berkshire swine. V. P. Atwell, of this city, has entered 29 cattle, 24 Jerseys and 5 Holsteins, and F. G. Pattee, of Plover, has 11 Guernseys, while W. F. Hamlin, of Wautoma, has 9 Aberdeen Angus cattle and 5 Durock Jersey swine. E. W. Sellers, of this city, is also on hand with a number of blooded cattle, and A. B. Moore, of Campbellsport, has 11 Red Poland cattle, with Timblin Horses, of Eden, next in line with 9 Short Horns, one of which, Prince of Pilsen, took second prize at the St. Louis fair. Uriah Stroup & Son, of the Lynwood farm, Fond du Lac, have 13 Short Horn cattle, and Horace E. Whittaker, of the same city, has a number of Aberdeen Angus cattle. J. H. & W. S. Dixon, of Brandon, have 49 sheep, including 6 or 8 varieties, and is the best exhibit in that line ever seen on the local grounds, while Ed. Finn, of Ft. Atkinson, has 12 fine specimens of the Ayrshire breed of cattle.

Among the home exhibitors are M. O'Keefe, of Custer, who has a fine Holstein bull and other graded cattle; H. G. Grashorn, of Carson, 7 Holsteins; L. A. Precourt, of Buena Vista, horses, cattle and poultry; James Isherwood, of Plover, mare, colt, and Red-pole bull; Wm. Wagner, of Stockton, horses and colts; T. J. Coan, of this city, Jersey cow; P. Mulranin, of Mathewson, Mr. Olson, Wm. Fontaine, W. L. Spence and others, cattle.

AGRICULTURAL HALL.

Your visit to the fair will not be complete, whether you reside in the city or country, without a visit to the agricultural hall, where the display of vegetables, fruits, etc., is large and varied, better than ever before, indicating that Portage county crops this year were far from being a failure. Among the principal exhibitors are E. P. and Wm. Scribner of Buena Vista, Aug. Oesterle of Sharon, Geo. Warden of Linwood, John Shaskowski of Casimir, John Wojcik of Sharon, F. J. Feist of Plover, and Mrs. Chas. Cartmill, Mrs. J. W. Vaughn and John Rowe, while several are contestants for the special prizes offered in the sweepstakes.

EXPOSITION HALL.

The walls of the Exposition building have been neatly covered with plain white paper and the dome decorated with streamers of bunting, which forms a canopy above a large mound of potted plants furnished by our local florists and individual growers. The east wing of the building, as has always been customary, holds the large display of art needle work and the walls, tables and show cases are literally covered with patch-work, crocheted and knitted quilts, tapestries, pillows, hand made laces, centerpieces, handkerchiefs and underwear done in eyelet, French, Norwegian and other embroideries. One wall of the north wing is decorated with water color, oil and other paintings and the opposite wall is devoted to amateur photography. The cabinets containing china paintings are attractive exhibits and a large stand holding cut flowers adds a pleasant fragrance. This building also contains the public and Normal schools exhibits of drawing, manual training, etc., the Business college, Singer Sewing machine company and other displays. The office of the secretary and his assistants is one of the busiest places on the grounds and is in the south-west corner of the exposition building.

THE POULTRY SHOW.

Not the least attractive feature of the fair this year is the poultry department, which is many times as large as ever before. The fair management recently completed a building where is exhibited to the best advantage, being commodious and nicely arranged, with a hallway or open court through the center, with apartments for coops on either side; the space is all taken. Among the exhibitors are Frank J. Blood, F. S. Hyer, Geo. Van Buskirk, H. H. Fagel, Jas. Hull, S. W. Andrews, Matt. Burke, A. P. Lewis, D. Higgins, Edward Gething, R. K. McDonald, Jas. Isherwood, F. Stieler, John J. Ferrill, F. M. Sackett, Lester Gray and Messrs. Williams and Gibbs.

SPECIAL FREE ATTRACTIONS

The free attractions that are given on the grounds each day should and will no doubt attract thousands to the city who would not otherwise come. The entertainments are alone worth more than the price of admission, and especially is this true of Fearless, who "loops the loop without a loop" and gives a most fearless and apparently reckless performance, appearing twice each day. The troupe of Japanese athletes, five in number, are said to be the best that ever came to America, and their feats are truly wonderful. The local management was indeed fortunate in securing both of these attractions this year, as next year Fearless will join the Ringling Bros. circus, having already contracted with them for the season. If you cannot attend the fair tomorrow, remember that these marvelous entertainers will also give their exhibitions on Friday.

TO CLOSE WITH CARNIVAL

Mirth and Fun Will Predominate Next Friday Evening—Fitting End to Annual Fair.

The 1908 fair of the Stevens Point Fair Association will formally close next Friday afternoon, but it is expected that several hundreds of the visitors will remain in the city until a late hour that night or until the departure of the various trains next day. In order that time may not hang heavily on their hands, it is proposed to hold a carnival on Main and other business streets during Friday evening, for which event the Union band will play and "joy will be unconfined."

Various features are being arranged by a committee selected for that purpose and all who visit the down town district may be assured of a good time.

Don't forget to remain for the Carnival, Friday night.

Mayor's Proclamation.

In consideration of the public spirit which prompts the people of Portage county to join annually in the attempt to make the Stevens Point fair a means of education and general uplift, we believe it to be for the best interests of the business men of this city to make special effort to encourage the management and make the enterprise the success it deserves. Therefore we request that all places of business be closed on Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week in order that all the people may be free to attend the fair and enjoy the educational benefit, recreation and amusements there provided. Very respectfully,
P. H. Cashin, Mayor.

Many Go to Amherst.

Stevens Point was well represented at the Amherst fair last week, about twenty-five people going down last Thursday and a lesser number the other two days. Thursday's crowd on the ground was estimated at 2,500. The display of live stock was exceptionally fine and in other departments the exhibit was equal to other years. On Friday the Rivals, a base ball nine from this city, played the Amherst team and won by a score of 4 to 2.

TOWNS ARE THREATENED

Forest Fires Throughout Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan—Engine Sent to Park Falls.

Shortly before six o'clock last evening L. A. Krembs, chief of the fire department, received a telephone message from Park Falls, Price county, asking for assistance, the town being threatened with destruction, as it was almost surrounded with forest fires. The message came from parties connected with the Flambeau Paper Co. mills, and after consultation with Mayor Cashin, arrangements were completed with the Central company to transport the steam fire engine. It was taken to the South Side at about 8 o'clock and loaded upon a flat car, with Jas. Gardner and N. F. Sherfinski in charge. A Portage freight engine was attached to the car, together with a caboose, and at 9:30 Engineer Francis and Fireman Cutting departed for the north, going as far as Abbotsford, covering the distance in a remarkably short time, and from there another crew and engine took the steamer to Park Falls.

From various points throughout northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan come reports of great damage being done by forest fires, which threaten the towns and inhabitants generally. People are fighting the fires, while almost suffocating from the dense smoke, and homes, timber, etc., is food for the flames in all sections. Alarming reports to this effect come from Ashland, Superior, Washburn and other points in this state, from Hibbing, Eveleth, Grand Marais and Duluth, Minn., and Calumet, Ahmeek and other places in Michigan.

New Company Organized.

The Stevens Point Produce Co. has been incorporated and filed articles in accordance with such incorporation. The capital stock is $5,000, and the Langenberg warehouse on Clark street will be used temporarily, at least. Directors and officers were chosen as follows, Monday:

President—John Woznicki.
Vice President—Felix Bruski.
General manager, purchasing agent, secretary and treasurer—Mike Hoppa.
Directors—Joseph Firkus, John Woznicki, Felix Bruski, Michael Hoppa, Lawrence King, F. Bemowski, J. Ossowski, Andrew Breski and Nick Niemczyk.

Estate of Jas. Turrish.

The final settlement of the estate of the late Jas. Turrish, of this city, was made in probate court a few days ago, and after paying the inheritance tax of $399.54, the balance of the estate, amounting to $51,557.81, was divided as follows, in compliance with the will of the deceased: Mary Ann Turrish, Stevens Point, $17,319.28; James J. Turrish, Spokane, $6,494.73; Sarah J. Dorcheid, Buena Vista, $2,164.91; Henry Turrish, Duluth, $6,494.73; Geo. T. Turrish, Buena Vista, $12,989.46; John W. Turrish, Denver, $6,494.73.

Green Bay Depot Robbed.

The Green Bay & Western passenger depot at the foot of Main street was broken into last Sunday night and about $1.50 in nickels and pennies taken from the money drawer. A small light of glass in an east window was smashed, making an opening for the prowler to insert his hand and unfasten the sash lock, when the lower sash was raised. Getting into the ladies' waiting room he lost no time in breaking the ticket office window and crawling through the narrow space. The drawer was then pried open and the coins extracted. Marks of a chisel were left on a west side window, which the thief or thieves evidently attempted to open. The work was undoubtedly done by local talent who desired some spending money for fair week.

The Flora DeVoss Company.

Standing room only greeted the Flora DeVoss company at their opening performance Monday evening, and was repeated last evening. The Monday evening play was "Mary Jane," and was well received. Miss Flora DeVoss is with the company in person and received hearty reception as she made her appearance. In the role of "Mary Jane" she was perfectly at home, exceedingly pleasing and did not over-do her character. Mr. Livingston is well known here and received his share of applause also. The manager, Mr. Rotnour, has some of the finest vaudeville acts ever seen here, including Gilmore & Castle, eccentric singers and dancers, direct from the Orpheum circuit of vaudeville houses, and their work speaks for itself. Mr. Hugh McCormick, the Australian ventriloquist, stands alone in his profession, working with eight lifelike figures and is one of the interesting parts of the program. All in all Mr. Rotnour has with him the strongest company he ever had in Stevens Point. Tonight, "The Cow Boy's Girl," with Miss DeVoss in her favorite part of the "Girl." Thursday night "For a Woman's Honor." Friday night "Utah." Saturday night Jim Corbett's great play, "Pals." Those who have not attended, should not miss, as the vaudeville alone is worth the price of admission charged. Seats on sale at the Krembs drug store.

Killed a Valuable Horse.

Hancock News: Norman Piper and family drove to Stevens Point, Saturday, leaving their team in Finch's livery barn for the night. While employees of the barn were leading them out to water between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, one of the horses got away and started for home, but was killed by a Green Bay passenger train south of the city. The horse was valued at $150.

More Locals.

Miss Belva Hunt, of Plainfield, is spending the week here with Miss Blanche Dafoe.
Mrs. P. B. Rivers was hostess for the Wahp-pi-pin-ne-kans, last evening, when the usual jolly time was had at her home on Center avenue.
Jacob Emter, of Wausau, came down last Saturday and visited here until this morning with his sister, Mrs. C. A. Williams, on N. Fremont street.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bender, of Columbus, Ohio, arrived in the city last night to remain a few days as guests of the latter's brother, Max Wirth. Mr. Bender has been engaged on the mercantile business in Columbus for the past couple of years, but will probably not return there to reside. He intends to locate in either Stevens Point or Milwaukee, and the many friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Bender trust they will decide to come back to the old home.

HIS LIFE CRUSHED OUT

L. N. Sovey, Former Central Employee, is Instantly Killed in St. Paul R. R. Co. Yards, Milwaukee.

Messages received by relatives in this city last Sunday contained the startling intelligence that Louis N. Sovey, a former well known employee of the Central, had been instantly killed the evening before while at work in the St. Paul R. R. Co.'s yards in Milwaukee. Mr. Sovey left Stevens Point upwards of a year ago and until within the past couple of weeks was employed as day switchman for the C. M. & St. P. R. R. in their Milwaukee yards. He was later transferred to the night force and at 9:05 o'clock Saturday evening was instructed to transfer a couple of cars onto one of the sidetracks adjoining the Plankinton Packing Co. factory. It is not definitely known just how the accident happened that resulted in his death, but there is every reason to believe that through some error of judgment in not closing a switch, another string of cars which were intended to be shifted onto a parallel track were forced against the cars, on one of which Mr. Sovey was riding, throwing him to the rails and both of the forward cars passed over his body. His arms were severed, the body badly mangled and his face also bruised in several places. Within a few moments other members of the crew hurried to the scene, but Mr. Sovey was then beyond all human aid, it being evident that he was killed instantly. His watch stopped at 9:07 o'clock. The remains were shipped here on train No. 1 this morning and thence taken to St. Stephen's Catholic church, where mass was offered up by Rev. W. J. Rice. The funeral procession later proceeded to St. Martin's church in Almond where interment took place in the parish cemetery. Father Rice also offering prayers at the grave.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Willett went to Milwaukee Sunday to assist in consoling the grief stricken widow, who is a sister of Mrs. Willett. John McCullough, a cousin of the ladies, also went down from Fond du Lac and returned on this morning's train. Others who accompanied the body here were Mrs. Sovey and two daughters, Misses Nellie and Sadie Allen, Miss Jennie Allen, P. B. Gilmore, D. J. McAuliffe, R. Fanning, C. Tenant, M. Olson and Fred Weber, the latter six being members of Lodge No. 123, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, to which order Mr. Sovey belonged and in which he carried an insurance policy for $1,500. He was also a member of St. Stephen's Court, No. 253, Catholic Order of Foresters of this city, in which society he had insurance of $3,000. Among other relatives who came here from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Otto and Mrs. Ed. Baldwin, of Bayfield, the ladies being sisters of Mrs. Sovey. Members of the McGinley, Dorsha, Kollock and Smith families from Buena Vista and Almond drove up last evening to attend the funeral.

Mr. Sovey was 38 years of age, his birthplace being Welland Station, Canada. He came to Stevens Point about 15 years ago and a couple of years later was married to Mrs. Alice Smith Allen. The family made Stevens Point their home continuously until moving to Milwaukee last year. Besides his widow, Mr. Sovey leaves the two stepdaughters above mentioned and three other children. His aged mother is also living at the old home in Canada and he has a brother, Fred Sovey, in Iowa, and two sisters, one of whom is a resident of Florida and the other of Buffalo, N. Y.

The sympathy of all will be extended to Mrs. Sovey and the other members of the family in their terrible affliction.

Business Outlook Better.

Last Saturday's Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin contained interviews with "captains of industry" throughout the state concerning the business outlook. One or more leading manufacturers in nearly all principal cities of the state were asked their opinion, the reports being generally optimistic. W. H. Coye, head of the Coye Furniture Co. in this city, was quoted as follows: "It is probably safe to predict that after crops are gathered that we will have as much business as is customary at the same season in former years. That the merchants of the west believe so is evidenced by the orders which they are placing for goods, both for immediate and future shipments. The furniture trade is one of the first to feel the effect of tight money, as it is also one of the last to recover when business begins to pick up. Nearly all factories in our line have resumed work, most of them on a full time schedule, indicating a demand for goods and confidence as to future business."

Booth-Porter Marriage.

Jas. H. Booth and Miss Minnie Porter, both of McDill, were married at the Baptist parsonage in this city, at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Rev. James Blake officiating. They were attended by Ernest Cartmill and Miss Eva Booth, sister of the groom, and after the ceremony returned to McDill to receive the well wishes

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the un-tutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. If we would properly investigate them, and use the knowledge of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R.
V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of pronounced testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic pains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

They Take the Kinks Out.
"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for many years, with increasing satisfaction. They take the kinks out of stomach, liver and bowels, without fuss or friction," says N. H. Brown, of Pittsfield, Vt. Guaranteed satisfactory

It begins to look as if Mr. Taft would be constrained to put aside his Constipation and indigestion are twins. They kill people inch by inch, sap life away every day. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea removes the cause; drives the disease away. 35 cents, tea

An increased demand for motor cars, however, is not a very convincing indication of returning prosperity.

It's a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the heart and kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak stomach, means weak stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the heart and kidneys. The weak nerves are inside crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is promptly helping stomach, heart and kidney ailments. The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the failing "inside nerves."
Any way test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by all dealers.

To Digest the Food
Bile in the intestines is as important to digestion as are the gastric juices in the stomach and bile is only supplied when the liver is in active condition.
The serious and chronic forms of indigestion are cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills because of their influence on the liver causing a good flow of bile to aid digestion and keep the bowels regular, thereby preventing fermentation of the food, the formation of gas and all the disagreeable symptoms of indigestion.
Long standing cases of chronic indigestion yield to Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills after all else has failed.
Mr. F. W. BIGLEY, Murrayville, W. Va., writes:—"For sixteen years I suffered from indigestion and liver trouble and consulted several physicians in vain. Two boxes of Dr. A.
W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills did more for me than all the medicines I ever used. My mother used them with equally good results."

FINISHING SHEEP.
To Reach Perfection They Must Be Properly Fed From Birth.
Scientific men give to the feeder various formulas for the proper balancing of the rations or food given to live stock which is termed a balanced ration, or, in other words, a certain quantity of food the chemical constituents of which balance in correct proportion to the supposed requirement of the animal which consumes them. Like all scientific principles when used in practical work, it needs in addition to the scientific, a thorough practical knowledge in order to obtain full benefit from the information that science has placed in the hands of the feeder. What is suitable for an animal at one stage of its development is not necessarily so at another. In dealing with the finishing of sheep, however, it may at once be said that, no matter how skillful the feeder may be, he can never bring sheep or lambs to a proper finish that have been in their earlier days neglected or allowed to waste and become poor.

The essence of the first class carcasses or the perfectly finished sheep or lamb is that it should never lose during any portion of its career that fine touch which only those that have been fed straight on from birth can give. The breeder who is most successful is the feeder who brings his sheep to the greatest degree of perfection, is the man, who feeds regularly with an increasing quantity of food, in accordance with the consuming capability of the sheep, straightaway from birth, and is the man who exhibits the most perfectly finished animal.

It is singular but true that for our ordinary market requirements it is far more difficult to finish our sheep so as to realize the highest price than it is to finish for the show or for exhibition.
For the latter one cannot well get the animal too fat, nor can it be overfed so long as the firm and good touch remains, but with the ordinary market the demand at the present time is for the animal that is deep in its flesh, with a good handle and a moderate supply of fat. This market condition needs great care in feeding.—W. R. Gilbert.

IMPROVED BUCKET.
For Use In Feeding Stock and Handling Fluid Substances.
A bucket of peculiar construction, designed especially to be used by farmers and dairymen in feeding slop to stock and in handling of fluid substances, has recently been invented. It serves in a sense as a dipper.
The arrangement is such that it can be filled by forcing it bottom downward into a receptacle of fluid substance, the hinged portion of the bottom being opened to permit the bucket

NEW BUCKET FOR FEEDING STOCK.
to be filled and closed to hold the contents until carried to the place of feeding. The contents can thus be discharged into a trough without wasting it and without the liability of spilling it upon the clothes of the operator.
The hinged portion of the bottom of the can is operated by a rod extending above the tip, which terminates in a handle.

As the bucket is carried by the latter, pressure is always maintained upon the bottom to keep it closed.
When it is desired to discharge the contents the handle is pushed downward.

Feeding a Coach Stallion.
I fed four stallions during breeding season about ten quarts oats and eight quarts bran and as much timothy hay as they would eat up clean per day. I always fed them three times a day and a bran mash twice a week. During the preceding season I cut the oats down if I do not want the horse for show purposes. All our stallions get two hours walking exercise a day. Alfalfa hay is a very good feed, only it is very fattening.—P. G. H. Remont, Tabret Stock Farm.

Want Good Pastures.
If troubled with stock breaking through the pasture fences, the indications are that the pastures inside the fence are not meeting the animal's requirement. A good pasture takes the place of a good fence.

THE NEW FIGURE.
A French Corsetiere Has Made It Possible of Achievement.
A corset establishment in Paris is making a corset cut very low beneath the waist, so that from the bust downward the silhouette of the figure appears absolutely straight. The waist line vanishes; the hips are deprived of contour; the bust no longer exists.
Having prohibited the graceful outline of the figure, usually so carefully preserved, the body is swathed in fabric, literally wound round and round it from under the arms to the hips.
Below the hips the material is arranged without a wrinkle so tightly that the wearer thereof can only shuffle in her movements, after which once more several draperies are introduced, so that about the foot there are multitudes of folds, calculated still further to impede easy and natural progress. So madame or mademoiselle is swathed exactly as are the little babies of Della Robbia one sees all over Florence and Italy. No doubt the corset makers got their ideas from these pictures and casts.

If it is found to be impossible to make the waist of the same measurement as the hips, the corset is actually padded to add inches to the circumference of the waist—an extraordinary reversal of the usual order of procedure. The woman, therefore, with nothing to commend her in a race for beauty except a large waist, possessing neither bust nor hips, will surely win in these times, when all that is natural and full of curves is tabooed.
Like artists who are bent on painting cadaverous women with necks half a yard long, the couturiers are now becoming morbid and seeking only what seems to fascinate a sickly imagination.

The flowing skirts of liberty, meteor, merveilleuse or crepe de chine—these fabrics are employed because of their clinging qualities—need some repress-ing influence to draw them down and keep the folds in place and grasp the form close. Every dressmaker has his own method of securing the required result, some by ribbon ties, others by loops of elastic attached to the ankles.

DO YOUR BEST.
A Good Motto For the Girl Who Works.

Girls and women who are starting out on a business, professional or industrial career, each and every one of them would do well to embroider a motto in large letters upon their inner consciousness.

The words to be elaborately emblazoned where none else may see are these: "Whatever comes to you to be done, do it with the best within you."

There comes a time to all when we have to perform big and little tasks that are distasteful to us.

The girl who has a college or even a high school education in starting out upon a business life will frequently be called upon to do things that she may consider beneath her dignity. But that is no excuse for not doing them well.

The stenographer often may be asked to do the errands of the office boy; the teacher may find that she will have a sweep the schoolroom floor, a duty that the janitor has carelessly failed to do, or the girl in the library may have to carry a large armful of books, a work which obviously belongs to the porter.

None of these duties were included in the bargain when the girl or woman sought employment. For this reason the performance of the hated tasks is done with a careless hand and no interested thought.

But whenever a task comes to your hand to be done, no matter what it is,
do it with the best that is in you, for every task has its useful lesson.

It is just as honorable to wash dishes well as to run a bank successfully.
The girl who can paint a beautiful picture should be as proud of her ability to dust a room thoroughly as to portray a sunset in brilliant colors. The prophets of the Bible told us to do all things to the glory of God.

It does not matter whether dishes are to be washed, floors to be scrubbed, a dinner cooked, a poem written or a marble chiseled. One act of service is as good as another. All depends on its performance.

Fun is a Necessity.
Most people have the impression that fun and humor are life incidentals, not necessities; that they are luxuries and have no great bearing upon one's career.

Many think fun is frivolous, indicating a lack of serious purpose in life.
There are parents who rebuke their children because they want to have fun and go in for a good time. These parents have yet to learn the great part which fun and humor play in the physical economy and their influence on the life.

What a complete revolution of your whole physical and mental being comes after seeing a really funny play! You went to the play tired, jaded, worn-out, discouraged. All your mental facilities were clogged with brain ash.
You could not think clearly. When you came home you were a new being—

Tovey, the Democratic nominee for sheriff, received ninety-three votes out of a total of ninety-six in this town, which fact speaks well for that candidate, as well as for the harmony of the people of Stockton.

THE END CAME QUICKLY

Mrs. Waldo H. Calkins Taken Ill on St. Paul Train, Saturday Morning, Dies Sunday Evening.

Mrs. Waldo H. Calkins, of the town of Plover, died at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Calkins, 618 Strong's avenue, at 9:30 o'clock Sunday evening, following a brief illness from blood poisoning, although she had been in poor health for the past year and a half. While returning from Merrill, last Saturday morning, where she spent two weeks at the home of her father, Chas. Sizer, she was taken suddenly ill on a St. Paul train. She was accompanied by her seven year old daughter, Florence, and after partaking of a light lunch, sat back in the seat and was engaged in fanning herself, when she lost consciousness and had to be carried from the car when it arrived at Junction City. A physician, who happened to be on the train, gave her such medical assistance as was possible. Mr. Calkins was summoned by telephone and in company with Dr. Southwick went to Junction City on the noon train and returned that afternoon at 2:40. Although everything possible was done, the patient continued to rapidly fail and passed away at the hour above stated.

The deceased lady was born at Fall River, Wis., June 25, 1875. Her maiden name was Isabel Sizer, and her girlhood days were spent at Fall River and Pipestone, Minn., and later the family moved to Merrill, where she was married on June 7, 1900, to Waldo H. Calkins. Since then most of the time had been passed on a farm in the town of Plover. She is survived by her husband and little daughter, besides her father, C. W. Sizer, and a sister and brother, Miss Nellie and Leslie Sizer, of Merrill, all of whom were here before the final dissolution. Mrs. Calkins was a most estimable young woman, beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and her taking away in the morning of life is a heavy blow to the young husband, little daughter, father, sister and brother.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Calkins residence on Strong's avenue, followed by services at St. Paul's M. E. church, to which denomination she belonged. Rev. C. F. Spray officiating. Interment was in Forest cemetery. Mrs. Calkins was also a member of the Eastern Star, and a delegation from Arbutus Chapter represented that organization at the funeral.

COURSE IN JOURNALISM

Additional Training Provided for Students Preparing for Newspaper Work at the State University This Year.

Two new courses are to be added to the work in preparation for journalism at the State University, the fourth year of which opens Sept. 29. Additional training will be given in an advanced course in newspaper writing and in a course in current political and economic subjects. An important addition has been made to the equipment of the department in the form of over 1,000 well written news and special feature stories selected from the leading newspapers throughout the country. The collection includes a number of reports of the same events as they appeared in different papers, and thus offers valuable material for the comparison of methods of newspaper reporting.

In the class in newspaper writing the methods used are intended to develop in the students the ability to see the interesting and important elements in the news of the day, and to describe them in clear, concise and fluent English. Early in the year all the members of the class are assigned to report some event that is to take place before the next recitation. These "stories" are corrected by the instructor, and a number of typical reports are discussed in class as to their merits and faults. Students soon learn to write concise, readable reports of a variety of events. Later they are given practice in reporting speeches, lectures and addresses, and in obtaining interviews.

The fact that the university has all its technical schools grouped together on one campus, has made it possible to develop courses adapted to those preparing for technical or trade journalism. The students in the college of medicine, law, engineering and agriculture, and those in the courses in commerce, music and pharmacy, can readily pursue the training courses in journalistic writing if they wish. Several students of agriculture have combined this work with their course in order to fit themselves to write for agricultural papers. By combining studies in commerce, agriculture, engineering and other technical studies with those in preparation for journalism, students can obtain the necessary preparation for practically all lines of technical and trade journalism.

Toledo, O.—Col. Henry M. Nevius of Red Bank, N. J., was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic Thursday. HORRIBLE MURDER IN BOSTON.

Man Kills His Actress Wife and Dismembers the Corpse.

Boston.—The most brutal crime in Greater Boston since the death of Susan Geary, a chorus girl, four years ago, was disclosed Thursday night by the discovery of the torso of Mrs. Honora Jordan, an actress aged 23 years, of Somerville, in a trunk in a boarding house at 7 Hancock street on Beacon hill, this city. Later the head and the bones of the limbs were found in the furnace of the Jordan home at Somerville and the scalp, hair and other greswome remains were taken from the kitchen range of the house.

Chester Jordan, aged 29 years, an actor of Somerville, is held by the police charged with the murder and, according to the officers, he made a complete confession of the crime.

According to Jordan's confession he accidentally killed his wife Tuesday night in a quarrel at their home and, becoming desperate over what he had done, took a butcher's knife, razor and shears and cut up the body and placed the torso in a trunk.

ROOSEVELT IN HUNTING ATTIRE

BRISTOL, VA.-TENN.

TOWN THAT IS LITERALLY DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF.

But Still Perfect Harmony Seems to Exist—One May Do on One Side of Street What Is Prohibited on the Other.

Knoxville, Tenn.—That, contrary to Biblical statement, a "city divided against itself" can stand is shown most strangely in the peculiar case of Bristol, Va.-Tenn. The town is literally divided in half by the state line that separates Virginia and Tennessee. One side of the main street is in the Old Dominion and the other in the Volunteer state.

The state line runs in the center of the street car track on State street for more than a mile. A novel plan of evading the Tennessee Jim Crow laws as affecting street cars was devised when the legislature passed a statute requiring negroes to be seated in the rear of the cars and apart from the whites. On State street half of a car is in Virginia and one-half in Tennessee. To evade this law it is only necessary to have the colored passengers ride on the side that is running in the Old Dominion, and by so doing they may ride with a passenger who is in Tennessee, but who is powerless to compel the conductor to enforce the Jim Crow law.

There is also a difference in the marriage laws. In Bristol, Tenn., the only prerequisites to the issuance of a marriage license are that the prospective bride be 16 and the groom 18, while in the city just across the state line it is necessary for all applicants for such license, where either party is under 21 years old, to have the written consent of their parents or guardians. The result is that Bristol, Tenn., is a sort of Gretna Green for eloping couples from neighboring states whose rigid laws withhold matrimony from infants that are eligible in Tennessee. However, there is a slight difference in the price, as the license in Bristol, Va., only costs $1, while in Tennessee, just across the street, the same document sells for $4.50.

The fact that the principal thoroughfare is directly on the state line permits men in business to choose the state in which the laws are more favorable to their business in which to locate, and yet not sacrifice advantages of being on the principal street. For instance, if the state license tax in Tennessee is $200 a year and it is

WATERMELONS SAVE LIVES.

Water Would Have Boiled in Desert, So the Story Goes.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Stranded in the desert and dying from thirst, a large party of Indians were relieved by an expedition carrying three wagonloads of watermelons. The rescuers were unable to carry water, which would have boiled in the desert, where the thermometers registered 126.

$100 a year in Virginia, a man entering this business can be in Bristol, Va., to the same advantage, and save $100 a year on license. The result is that some lines of business are represented almost exclusively in one city, on account of cheaper license tax or some other consideration of that character.

The Tennessee law which prohibits the sale of revolvers and other small firearms within the state is robbed of its effect in Bristol, for the reason that Virginia has no such law, and hardware stores and sporting emporiums in that part of the city which is in the Old Dominion carry them regularly in stock.

It was on the spot where Bristol now stands that Gen. Evan Shelby, the famous Indian warrior, the father of Gen. Isaac Shelby, the latter first governor and "father of Kentucky," settled and built the first white man's cabin west of the Alleghenies. The little log hut, which was preserved until a few years ago, stood almost directly on the state line, and in it Gen. Isaac Shelby, who won fame at King's mountain, was born. The body of Gen. Evan Shelby now sleeps on the state line between the two great commonwealths, in Bristol.

Daniel Boone, the famous pioneer settler, also settled near Bristol and the state line, and the inscription he carved upon a beech tree not far from Bristol is quite plainly visible. It is as follows: "Daniel Boone cilled a bar."

By reason of the state line it is often difficult to determine questions of jurisdiction in criminal and civil cases. A few months ago a young girl was found in East Hill cemetery in a dying condition, with a mortal bullet wound in her breast. Her sweetheart was charged with having murdered her. She was within ten feet of the state line, which divides the cemetery, and it was necessary for surveyors to rerun the state line before it was determined that Tennessee had jurisdiction in the case.

Until a few months ago, when a plan for doing such work in common was adopted, it was a frequent thing to see one side of State street well swept and sprinkled, while the pavement on the other side, being in the other city, remained dirty and dusty. However, many of these handicaps have been overcome and there is unity in action on almost all matters. At times feeling between the police forces has been bitter and a few years ago resulted in the killing of a member of the Bristol (Tenn.) department by a Bristol (Va.) bluecoat, but these objectionable features incident to the peculiar geographical situation of the city are being rapidly minimized.

The party, composed of Mojaves and Yumas, were crossing the desert near the Needles when their water gave out and their horses became exhausted. One young Indian volunteered to ride to Needles for aid.

The officials were puzzled as to the manner of relief, however, as they knew water would boil or evaporate as soon as the desert was reached. Then the watermelon plan was hit upon and all of the Indians were saved except one old chief, who expired before the relief party came.

LIVE ON BUTTERMILK

TWO BROTHERS TRYING TO REDUCE WEIGHT.

One Had Previously Tried It for Fifteen Days and Had Lost Twenty-Four Pounds—Solid Foods Barred by Agreement.

St. Louis.—The "Buttermilk Brothers" is the name by which Sam and Joe Weisman, tailors, are now known to their friends. Sam, after fasting for 15 days and taking a week's rest, has induced his brother to enlist in the ranks of the starvation army, and they are trotting along side by side on the road to Thinville.

Under the terms of their agreement all they are permitted to take is one gallon of buttermilk each day and all the water they care to drink. All solid food is barred.

"I am going to stick until I reach the reasonable and gentlemanly weight of 165," Sam said to a reporter. "Fat may be all right for Mr. Taft, but I'd rather be lean than be president."

"When I started on my first fast, a month ago, I weighed 202 pounds. When I gave up, because my good old mother was afraid I would starve to death, I weighed 181 pounds and never felt better in my life."

"All of my friends told me to be careful not to eat too much after breaking my fast. They were afraid I would founder. But there was no danger. I couldn't eat much. I didn't hanker after double porterhouse steaks like I used to. I think that's the best thing about fasting. It reforms your appetite. I feel ashamed when I remember what a glutton I used to be. And Joe was worse."

"In the week that I was back on the food wagon I lived mainly on soft-boiled eggs. I ate chicken once, to please my brother, and I ate some fish that my wife cooked, but it didn't taste so good to me. I was glad to get back on a buttermilk diet. It's great, but don't let anybody tell you that it's fattening. I now weigh 176 pounds. Maybe I'm not as strong as I would be on a diet of beefsteak, potatoes au gratin and things like that, but I am healthier."

But Joe is having a harder time. Originally he was even heavier than his brother.

"If I don't die trying I'm going to stick to buttermilk until I get down to 170. Before I started to fast I weighed 204 pounds. I've lost about nine pounds so far."

"My head aches all the time," said Joe. "I was never subject to fits, but I feel one coming on every time anybody says that sweet word 'beefsteak.'"

"Everybody tells me that after the fourth day I will be all right. It's pretty hard pulling, but I can stand it if Sam can."

Friends enticed him into a restaurant the other night. He sat there with a glass of buttermilk and watched them eat good things.

"It nearly killed me, but I stuck," says Joe, proudly.

Many faddists and physicians have written letters to the Buttermilk Brothers. Dr. J. C. Eales of Belleville, who fasted 31 days, sent them a copy of his book on starvation as an aid to health. He suggested that they might last longer if they drank lemonade instead of buttermilk.

POOR GIRL HEIR TO MILLIONS.

Restaurant Cashier Entitled to Part of Soldier's $50,000,000.

Washington.—Miss Flossie E. Singleton, cashier in a restaurant on Pennsylvania avenue, has received word that she is one of the heirs of Joseph Ball, a revolutionary soldier, whose estate is said to have accumulated until it amounts to $50,000,000.

"This seems altogether too good to be true, of course," said Miss Singleton. "In fact, I do not even know my great-grandmother's name. What would I do with a few million dollars? Well, it will be time enough to talk about that when I find some evidence that the money is coming my way."

The Ball estate is said to comprise now $1,550,000 in cash and some 5,250 acres of land, containing iron, in Meadville, Pa., and other towns in Pennsylvania and the Carolinas, Kentucky and Virginia.

Horse Gets a Big Meal.

Washington, Pa.—Bob, a wise old gray horse belonging to the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, which operates mines at Coal Center, was almost smothered to death in a pile of oats. Bob with his teeth pulled out the shide which held 300 bushels of grain in the granary above.

Before the hungry horse realized what had happened he was practically buried under the tons of grain. Finding himself imprisoned, the horse commenced the task of eating his way out.

The neighing of other horses attracted the attention of the stable boss, who arrived in time to rescue his favorite steed.

Who Will Be the Fairy Prince to Capture Rich, Beautiful and Very Particular Margaretta Drexel?

Mrs. ANTHONY J. DREXEL, JR.

NEW YORK.—Who is to be the lucky man? London matrons with eligible sons, earls, barons and plain sirs, are asking each other this important question every day. Who is to be the fairy prince who is going to carry off the prize of the 1908 season, beautiful Miss Margaretta Drexel, only daughter of Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., of New York, Philadelphia and London.

To-day Miss Drexel, clever, vivacious, rich, is regarded as the star "catch" of London society. She is called the best-looking girl in London and since the marriage of Miss Jean Reid, her chum, daughter of the American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, she takes precedence among all the American girls now in the British capital.

It may be added right here that her grandfather, the late Anthony J. Drexel, Sr., the Philadelphia banker, left an estate of $30,000,000. Fifteen years after his death it has much enhanced. Miss Drexel stands to divide it with her two brothers.

Her father, Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., inherited the bulk of the great fortune. Since then he has made his permanent residence abroad. He and Mrs. Drexel, together with their daughter, Miss Margaretta, occasionally run over to this country. They were here last winter, coming over in the Mauretania.

But to Miss Drexel—the envy of every other London girl to-day.

Her's is the beauty of the exquisite patrician type. She has great, limpid eyes of gray-blue, with long curling lashes and a complexion of ivory white, just touched with the roses of youth. Two little dimples make their homes in her cheeks and there is a tiny red mouth like Cupid's bow. She has the broad, low brow that artists delight in, all crowned with a mass of wavy chestnut hair. She is tall and slender; her perfect figure makes her the admiration of everybody wherever she goes.

Miss Drexel is not of the butterfly type. She is devoted to music; she plays the cello with distinct feeling. She sings with admirable technique and poise—she shows a voice that has been wondrously trained, though it has only the strength for the drawing room. Perhaps she is at her best in her own home accompanying herself on her guitar, which she plays with all the fervor and grace of the Spaniard. More than this—the Drexels have always been devoted to the church. It was whispered when Miss Drexel was getting ready to leave the convent where she spent so many years that she would eventually take the veil. However, her parents prevailed upon her to leave this for later years—they insisted upon her seeing something of life before leaving it forever. And now—so it is said—Miss Drexel has decided that she will not forsake the world forever, but devote herself to doing her charities where she is better fitted to bestow them.

Mrs. Drexel, who was Miss Margaretta Armstrong of Philadelphia, herself a beautiful matron, appreciates clothes and spends a fortune annually upon her raiment and as much more upon her daughter's.

"She would look lovely in anything," laughs London, "but when she comes out in something from Worth or Doucet or Paquin, it is little wonder that she creates a sensation."

During the London season which has now ended Miss Drexel has been the admiration of all London society. Few girls in the smartest set have ever enjoyed the buzz of admiration that has greeted her entrance into a drawing room. Few have met his majesty, the king, on such cordial terms.

Of course, Miss Drexel has had more than one eligible suitor, most of them with titles, but she remains fancy free and heart whole. She is enjoying the delights of life close to the throne with all the ardor of a young girl just out of her teens. She knows perfectly well that she mustn't be carried off with it—she has the discriminating eye of a woman much older than she is herself.

are undecorated, but Mr. Drexel intends to cover them with old French brocades and Italian silk tapestries in accordance with the style chosen for each room.

All this is to provide a temporary home for Miss Drexel, his only daughter. He proposes to give some great entertainments for her next year, as his Carlton House Terrace home could only permit parties of limited size.

Across the square, at No. 41, Mrs. Drexel will have her sister, Mrs. James H. Smith, widow of "Silent" Smith, which house she took from Lord Wimborne some time ago. No. 22, however, stands alone at the junction of North Audley and Upper Brook streets. The Italian embassy is opposite, on the other corner.

It is the largest available mansion in Mayfair. It has more sleeping accommodations than Dorchester House, the home of the Reids. Thirty servants are needed for it. The mansion was

CHOLERA AND THE GANGES.

Reputation of the Sacred River Defended by an Author.

The revolting customs which prevail among pilgrims to the Ganges, including promiscuous bathing by those who are well and those who are well and those who are suffering from diseases of all sorts and the drinking of water from the bathing places, make the following item from the Indian Review somewhat of a surprise.

The reputation of the water of the Ganges among the Hindoo millions of India is known to all, and most of us were content to believe that in a hot

MINIATURE SPIRIT TREE.

Unique Curiosity from the Depths of Old Ocean.

Visitors to Mayor Wing's office during the past few days have been interested in a curious marine growth which occupies a prominent position on the upper ledge of the mayor's desk. The thing is a curiosity in its way, having a base of fine coral, covering a space about equal to a square foot. On one side of this growth of coral are attached two specimens of sheep's wool sponge, which had grown to the rock. But the most curious thing about the object is a tree-like growth which shoots up from the center of the coral base to a height of about 18 inches. This object is a marine plant, with a trunk like a tree, symmetrical in its proportions and with numerous branches reaching in every direction. The plant is black and looks like a tree that had been blasted by some poisonous exhalation.

The branches are very long and reach upward and upward, then droop reminding one of the mythical spirit tree of the Polynesians, which, according to tradition, grows somewhere in the interior of the larger islands. This tree has a series of branches, covered with flowers which invite the travelers' admiration, and as the unwary victim approaches they are discovered to be tentacles which reach downward and draw him into their horrible grasp. Once thus caught, no man has ever escaped the crushing power of these alleged horrible freaks of nature, say the natives.

The onlooker familiar with the tale of this mythical tree cannot help wondering if the plant which once grew on a coral reef at the bottom of the and thirsty land like northern India such a magnificent river as the Ganges had many claims to be highly thought of; but it would appear as if modern science was coming to the aid of ancient tradition in maintaining a special blessedness of the water of the Ganges. E. H. Hankin, in the preface to the fifth edition of his excellent pamphlet on 'The Cause and Prevention of Cholera,' writes as follows: "Since I originally wrote this pamphlet I have discovered that the water of the Ganges and the Jumna is hostile to the growth of the cholera microbe, not only owing to the absence of food materials but also owing to the actual presence of an antiseptic that has the power of destroying this microbe. At present I can make no suggestion as to the origin of this mysterious antiseptic."

Authorities Maintain Old Village Lockups in England.

Several villages in the Midlands possess in more or less ruined state their old parish lockups, commonly known as roundhouses, says the Sheffield Daily Telegraph.

Breedon, a Leicestershire village, close to the South Derbyshire border, possesses its lockup a quaint stone building 18 feet high and 8 feet 6 inches diameter inside. The walls are 15 inches thick. The door is of stout oak, studded with many large iron nails.

The lock is very strong and the keyhole is covered with an iron plate, which itself has to be unlocked by a spanner before the door key can be inserted. Ventilation is afforded by small holes punched in an iron plate, 6x7 inches, fixed in the center of the door. There is no window.

At Worthington, the next village to Breedon, the old lockup is a seven-sided brick building, badly in need of restoration, an opportunity for archaeologists which it is hoped will not be missed. Both at Breedon and Worthington these diminutive disused prisons are on the roadside, adjacent to the pound or pinfold, so that the constable had conveniently side by side the strayed cattle and any human rogues or vagabonds he had charge of. There are similar old lockups at Smibert and Ticknall, two villages close to Leicestershire.

WISCONSIN HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF FORM.

TRAPPER KILLED FOR CASH

Manitowish Homesteader Found in Cabin with a Bullet in His Head—Chest Broken Open.

Manitowish.—Lying in a pool of blood with a bullet hole in the back of his head, Alex Fraiser, a French trapper, was found dead in his shack five miles west of Manitowish. The body was discovered by a party of woodsmen who had stopped at Fraiser's shanty to secure something to eat. The blood had not yet coagulated which indicated that the man had been dead only a short time. In one corner of the room was a chest, the lock of which had been broken off and the contents, consisting of clothing, scattered about the floor. Rumor has it that Fraiser kept several hundred dollars in this chest and it is the opinion that he was murdered for the money. Fraiser made a trip to Hurley and upon his return was accompanied by a man who was a stranger to Manitowish people. The belief was that the man killed Fraiser and took his money. He was probably a friend whom Fraiser met in Hurley and invited to his home.

AND SHE LEFT HIM GUESSING.

Woman's Directions of Little Help to Traveling Lawyer.

A New York lawyer was called recently to a hamlet in Berks county, Pennsylvania, in the interest of a large coal corporation, and now he is telling this story on himself:

He was driving along a country road and feared he might have lost his bearings. The village he wanted to reach seemed elusive, so he halted in front of a farmhouse to make inquiries.

"Madam," he called out to a broad German woman, who stood looking at him from beneath a "poke" bonnet, "can you tell me how far it is to the next village?"

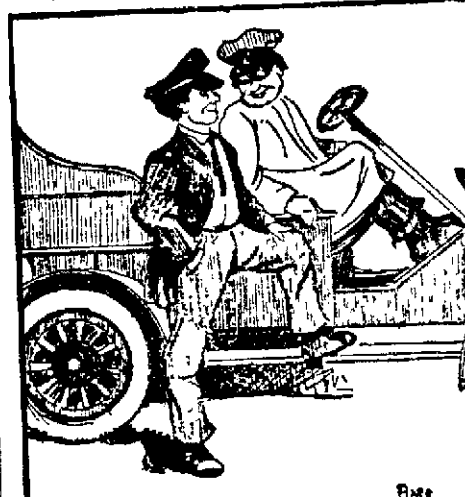

"Oh, just a leedle ways," came the response.

"But, my good woman, how far is it? Is it two, four, six or eight miles? That's what I want to know."

"Yah, I think so."

And the Wall street lawyer drove on a wiser man.

AUTOMOBILE SHOP TALK.

"What was your record across Jersey?"

"One country constable and a cow."

No Automobiles There.

"There are no automobiles on the golden streets of heaven," says the Whitsett Courier, "but they're giving lots of folks a chance to walk those golden streets. One of the contraptions arrived in town last week and during the first spin the owner took in it it pitched a blind mule on top of the town hall, with the man that was ridin' the mule. The mule was so mad it kicked the town clock to pieces, likewise kickin' a hole in the roof an' fallin' on the mayor, just as he had took his seat an' called council to order. Having landed in the midst of them, the mule walked slow and dignified to the front door an' then took to the woods."

Boy Grades the Clergy.

Bishop Potter, at an ecclesiastical dinner in New York, read a Coopers-town schoolboy's essay on "Clergy-men." The essay, which created much amusement, was as follows: "There are 2 kinds of clergymen. Bishops rectors and curats. The bishops tells the rectors to work and the curats have to do it. A curat is a thin married man but when he is a rector he gets fuller and can preach longer sermons and becoms a good man."—Washington Star.

No Genius.

"He is very clever, but evidently far from a real genius."

"What makes you think so?"

"Why, he is fairly punctual about keeping his appointments."

Most of the money to build the road has come from the British and French investors who took the bonds guaranteed by the Ecuadorian government. A French finance company has already made some advances. American financiers have not put in large sums, but the railway is actually an American enterprise, and most of the rolling stock, bridges and the rolling stock have come from the United States.
